Two new Hilton hotels, both designed by JOI-Design, have just opened in Frankfurt's oblong-shaped horizontal skyscraper The SQUAIRE. The Hilton Frankfurt are said to "reflect the decision by the operating group to introduce a bolder, sleeker design into their flagship hotels (by) combining luxury deta (though) still with a strong offering for business travellers."

The hotels stand adjacent in a "horizontal skyscraper" called The SQUAIRE, which is 2,165 feet long and 213 feet wide, complete with 1,560,707 square f dimensionally curved. This marks the first time two hospitality brands under parent company Hilton Worldwide are opening in the same building in Europe

The Hilton Garden Inn Frankfurt Airport features 334 guest rooms with wireless Internet, a king-size Garden Sleep System bed, work area with ergonomic Miller, LCD TVs, and sound-proof windows; a restaurant with show kitchen; the Hilton Garden Inn Pavilion Pantry; wellness offerings like a sauna, steam r a 24-hour business center and three meeting rooms.

The Hilton Frankfurt Airport features 249 rooms with LCD TVs, separate work station area, bathrooms with separate bathtub and shower, and sound-proof views over the skyline and airport; a six-story atrium lobby with four glass elevators and "lighting ball" fixtures; signature restaurant Rise; and such wellness and a 24-hour Hilton Fitness by Precor. It also has two executive floors with an exclusive lounge, plus a business center, 10 meeting rooms and a grand ballroom and has a ceiling covered in Swarovski crystals.

With almost 600 bedrooms between the two hotels, the design project involved some 200 room types. The rooms feature leather-clad wardrobes and stylized lighting in 18 carat gold leaf, furniture is in glossy ebony and all the artwork is original. The bathroom is in natural stone with black granite fixtures and a whirlpool.

Unique to the property are JOI-Design's inclusion of "golden wings", curved perforated metal sheets that extend over the reception, dining and retail areas to allow natural light to flow through from the atrium; and the silver mirrored globe at the east end of the building, a building-within-the-building that accommodates

The lounge, bar and restaurant areas are announced from reception by a series of illuminated columns. These feature oak timber flooring, glass pendant lighting. JOI-Design also introduced high-backed banquettes, sculptured timber features, and double-sided chairs at the 10th floor executive lounge.
